

ADOPTS REPORT OF COMMITTEE

Taxpayers Meeting Approves Method Suggested For The Rush County Association

ANOTHER SESSION ON NOV. 19

Ray Morgan of Knightstown, Speaker of House of Representatives, Backs Movement

Final steps toward the organization of the Rush County Taxpayers association were taken at a meeting here Saturday afternoon when a committee of five men to draft a constitution and by-laws and another to select thirteen members at large of the assembly of the association, were appointed and will report back to a general meeting Monday, November 19.

The report of an organization committee selected at a previous session provided that the association be governed by an assembly composed of one member for each precinct in the county, one member for each municipal corporation in the county and thirteen members at large, and that each precinct and municipal corporation organize and select its member.

The report of the committee was unanimously adopted and Claud Cambren, who acted as temporary chairman, appointed the following committees:

To draft constitution and by-laws: Douglas Morris, local attorney and former judge of the state supreme court; Fred Bell, president of the Rush County Farm Bureau; Robert E. Mansfield of this city, formerly of the U. S. consular service; W. E. Inlow, a local real estate agent, and John H. Kiplinger, Rushville attorney and formerly a member of a sub-committee of the allied reparations commission at Weisbaden, Germany.

To select thirteen members at large of the assembly: Samuel L. Trabue, Rushville attorney; W. S. Oneal, Rushville business man, and Thomas K. Mall of Manilla, Banker and farmer.

The report also provided for the appointment of a membership committee to select members, but none will be appointed until the organization is perfected. The committee making the report was composed of Mr. Kiplinger; Phil Wilk, county auditor; Robert A. Innis, president of the American National bank; Mr. Morris and V. W. Norris, local fertilizer dealer and farmer.

In case any precinct or municipal corporation fails to organize and appoint its member of the assembly, the committee appointed by the chairman may make such appointment, and the assembly, when completing the organization, according to the report which was adopted.

Addresses were made by Douglas Morris, Ray Morgan of Knightstown former speaker of the house of representatives and member of the executive committee Indiana Taxpayers association and J. S. Young, a representative of the state association.

"What's everybody's business is nobody's business," said Mr. Morgan "and that's why we have high taxes."

School teachers are a small part of the population and yet they have a lobby in the legislature and get desirable legislation. They got the

ACCEPTS CARTHAGE CALL

C. F. Shultz to Preach Half Time at Christian Church

The Rev. Charles F. Shultz of Newcastle has accepted a call to preach half time during 1924, for the Christian church at Carthage. He is well known in Rush county, having held very successful revival meetings at Homer, Moscow, Milroy, Big Flatrock, and has preached regularly as pastor at Arlington, Fairview and Homer.

The Rev. Mr. Shultz has just closed his work as state evangelist, in which work he has had about 800 additions to the churches during the past two years. He has just closed a successful meeting at Liberty, Indiana with 61 additions, and has been invited to return for a meeting next fall. He will in all probability hold a revival at Carthage beginning about the first of December.

PRY OPEN GROCERY WINDOW

Burglars Again Try it at Allen's Store Without Success

For the fourth time in the past twelve months, burglars broke into L. L. Allen's grocery store, 327-329 North Main street, Sunday night or early today. They followed the same plan as before, prying open a window on the north side of the building, close to the cash register. They did not succeed in raising the window far enough to get in, or were frightened away.

This is the conclusion since nothing was missing from the store except twelve cents that was in the cash register. This could be reached through the window. None of the stock was disturbed.

Repeated attempts have been made to rob the store, but Mr. Allen has never suffered any loss of any consequence.

CIRCUIT COURT IN WEEK'S VACATION

Preparations Begun For Opening of November Term Which Will Begin Next Monday

COURT RETURNS DECISIONS

Denies John Gibson New Trial Against Pennsylvania and Refuses Stella Warth a Divorce

The Rush circuit court is in vacation this week, and the work of closing the books of the September term that closed Saturday is under way, and preparations begun for the new term that will open next Monday.

On the closing day Judge Sparks overruled the motion for a new trial in the case of John Gibson against the Pennsylvania railroad, which was tried last June, and the jury awarded the verdict for the defendant. The plaintiff attempted to get a new trial. The case was for damages sustained in an accident at the West First street railroad crossing.

Judge Sparks also rendered his decision in the divorce suit of Stella Gordon Warth against Cecil Warth, heard October 20, and the court refused the plaintiff a divorce on her demands.

Charles W. Ertel is plaintiff in a suit filed against Charles Elwell, the complaint being for $1000 damages, following an automobile accident September 16. The plaintiff alleges that he was operating his machine on a highway and that the defendant

SUPERINTENDENTS TO MEET HERE TUESDAY

Southern Indiana Club Will Visit Rushville Schools and Eat Lunch With Rotary Club

TWO ROUND TABLE SESSIONS

Between fifteen and twenty city school superintendents of southern Indiana are expected here Tuesday for the annual meeting of the Southern Indiana Superintendents' club. The superintendents will visit the schools during the morning, as the guests of Supt. J. H. Scholl, and at noon they will eat lunch with the Rotary club, three of the visitors being scheduled to make short talks. They will visit the schools again in the afternoon and at 3:45 will hold a business session.

Following the transaction of business, Dr. C. M. Curry of Terre Haute will discuss "The New License Law," and this will be followed by a round table discussion of the teachers' license law and kindred subjects. The superintendents will be guests at a dinner at the Seaboard House at 6 o'clock and the closing session will be another round table at 7 o'clock.

There are four honorary members of the club, but only one of them, W. A. Millis, president of Hanover college, will be present. The professor of education in Hanover will accompany him to the meeting.

The club has 29 active members and Supt. Scholl is the third oldest in point of membership, having been active in the organization since 1904.

KNECHT FUNERAL AT 9 O'CLOCK TUESDAY

Services For Former Rushville Young Man Killed in Accident to be Held at St. Mary's Church

CRUSHED UNDER A TRACTOR

Funeral services for Larry Knecht age twenty-four years, who was fatally injured in an accident at Lackawana, New York, a suburb of Buffalo, last Friday afternoon, will be held at St. Mary's Catholic church Tuesday morning at nine o'clock, in charge of the Rev. Francis Schaub, and burial will be in Calvary cemetery. The funeral cortege will leave the home of the deceased's parents at Washington township, at 8:15.

The body arrived at the Knecht home about eleven o'clock Sunday morning and hundreds of friends called during the afternoon to view the remains.

Mr. Knecht was driving a tractor and dragging another one behind, when it overturned and he was crushed underneath its weight. He lived about forty-five minutes.

Besides his parents and widow, the deceased is survived by five brothers, John, Will, Jack and Francis Knecht of this city and Fred Knecht of Mays, John and Jack Knecht went to Buffalo after the remains.

BANKERS ARE WITNESSES

Five Examined by Grand Jury in McCray Inquiry Today

(By United Press)
Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 12—Five witnesses were examined by the Marion county grand jury when it resumed its investigation into the financial affairs of Gov. McCray, after numerous delays due to the illness of Charles W. Moores, special prosecutor.

The witnesses heard today included Thomas W. Barr, state bank examiner. Other witnesses heard represented banks interested in McCray notes.

The grand jury is expected to continue in session all week and push the investigation as rapidly as possible. A large number of witnesses have been called, but their identity is kept secret.

AMERICA HAS NOT FORGOTTEN

(By United Press)
America has not forgotten.

On the fifth anniversary of the ending of the World war, hundreds of thousands of boys in khaki, nurses, Salvation Army workers and others who participated in overthrowing Germany's military might, joined in parades in all parts of the United States. Millions of citizens cheered them.

At 11 a. m. in every community in the country, all activity ceased for two minutes and people stood at attention in honor of those who never came home from "Somewhere in France."

Dispatches to the United Press today told of Armistice Day celebrations ranging from imposing parades with crashing bands and artillery salutes, in the big cities, to simple little church services with sermons on "peace" in the hamlets and villages.

In Washington, President Coolidge placed a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, Gold Star Mothers and other mourners filed past the sepulchre all day. A mile or so away 5,000 people jammed the street in front of Woodrow Wilson's home and heard him—choking with emotion which at times almost overcame him—call the American army of 1918, the "most ideal army that was ever thrown together." He defied those who oppose America entering the League of Nations and said "that we shall prevail it as sure as that God reigns."

In London, King George placed a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Westminster Abbey while thousands filed past the cenotaph in Whitehall. In Paris General Pershing stood at attention while his aide put a wreath on the Unknown's tomb beneath the Arc de Triomphe, while a

AT THE ELEVENTH HOUR

No special observance of Armistice Day was held in Rushville, but the day did not pass without notice, as factory whistles were blown and bells rung at eleven o'clock this morning, in commemoration of the signing of the armistice on the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month, 1918.

The day was given added significance Sunday when ministers generally discussed the armistice in sermons.

FORGET-ME-NOT SALE SHORT OF LAST YEAR

Handicapped by the Lack of Workers, War Mothers Raise Only $118.15 Saturday

DRAFT SENT TO INDIANAPOLIS

Handicapped by the lack of workers, Rush county War Mothers raised only $118.15 with the sale of forget-me-nots here Saturday. This is less than half of the sum raised in the observance of Forget-Me-Not Day here last year, when Rush county was third in the state in point of receipts.

The sale of forget-me-nots is conducted nationally every year for the benefit of disabled war veterans. All of the proceeds go to the Disabled American Veterans of The World War, an organization devoted to the alleviation of the sufferings of disabled soldiers.

Six War Mothers and two high school girls conducted the sale. No specified sum was asked for the little blue flowers, each person receiving being asked to drop money in a box.

The War Mothers expected to have the help of the A. A. G. girls of the high school, but plans miscarried and they were not notified in time. Mrs. Belle Allen acted as chairman and remained at headquarters in the postoffice throughout the day.

R. A. Innis, Glen Foster and Guy Mulbarger of the American National bank counted the receipts and prepared the draft which was sent to Indianapolis Saturday night.

SUIT FOR POSSESSION

Richard Disinger is plaintiff in a complaint filed in Justice Steel's court against Frank Rogers, the suit being for possession of a house in West First street, and with the demand for damages being for $100. The case has been docketed for trial on November 15, ten o'clock.

TO PROBE BANK MURDER

Vincennes, Ind., Nov. 12—Forty witnesses from Bicknell and a large number from Edwardsport were subpoenaed today to appear before the grand jury Tuesday in the investigation of the murder of Charles Wright assistant cashier of the Edwardsport state bank. Wright was shot during an attempted hold-up last week.

TO OBSERVE SPECIAL WEEK

Schools of County Preparing to Discuss Education

The county schools will observe Education Week next week, according to plans being made now by B. D. Farthing, county school superintendent, who will announce the program in a few days.

Benjamin J. Burris, state superintendent, will make the opening address in the county on next Monday night in a community education meeting scheduled for Manilla, and there will no doubt be a large crowd out to hear the address and program.

Mr. Farthing will send speakers from the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs into the schools of the county next week, and the observance of the national education week program will be followed.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL UNDER WAY

Supplies In Hands of Township Chairmen And Workers Are Ready To Receive Memberships

OPENED ON ARMISTICE DAY

Renewals And New Members Sought So County Chapter Will Be Able To Function At All Times

Robert E. Mansfield, acting chairman of the Rush County chapter of the American Red Cross, today issued the following appeal for the renewal of memberships in the local unit of the organization.

Yesterday, Armistice day, marked the opening of the annual roll call for membership in the American Red Cross. Supplies are now in the hands of the chairman of the township auxiliaries of the Rush county chapter, and the workers in the organization are prepared to receive and receipt for renewals of memberships.

The activities of the American Red Cross, the scope and efficiency of its service during the world war and since the signing of the Armistice, including relief to millions of war-wrecked countries, assistance in times of disaster in America and other places, especially in the Japanese in most of the churches, and should secure for it the willing and sympathetic support of every patriotic American citizen.

Armistice day, the fifth anniversary of which was observed yesterday by the holding of patriotic sermons, earthquake catastrophe, by many orders and societies, was a reminder of the ending of hostilities in that great drama, the world war, in which the American Red Cross played such a conspicuous and heroic part.

Last year and continued until the close of the school term in May of this year, the Rush county chapter

ARMISTICE DAY SERMON THEMES

Beating Swords Into Ploughshares of No Avail so Long as National Jealousies Remain

VIEW OF THE REV. R. W. SAGE

Last War Proved Powerlessness of Mere War to End War. The Rev. H. W. Hargett Asserts

Armistice Day was the theme of sermons in some of Rushville's churches, the subject being especially appropriate in view of the fact that the fifth anniversary of the ending of the war fell on Sunday.

Beating swords into ploughshares is of no avail so long as national hatreds, jealousy and suspicion are permitted to continue, the Rev. R. W. Sage said at the First Baptist church.

The Rev. H. W. Hargett said at St. Paul's church that war for moral ends can never be won wholly by the sword and asserted that the last war proved the powerlessness of mere war to end war.

A field representative of Hanover college spoke at the First Presbyterian church and at the First United Presbyterian church, the pastor, the Rev. E. G. McKibbin spoke of the duty resting on every human being to praise God.

Swords Into Ploughshares

Armistice Day was observed at the morning service of the First Baptist church and a special sermon was preached by the pastor, Rev. R. W. Sage, in keeping with the thought of the day. Speaking from the text, "And they shall beat their swords into ploughshares and their spears into pruning hooks: Nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war anymore," and the substance of his message was as follows:

Today we celebrate the close of the great war. At the close of that conflict we hoped for universal peace and that war should never again darken the history of the human brotherhood. We do not know that the day of universal peace is at hand. In fact there are many indications that it is not; but one thing is sure—war has forever lost its glory. It has been changed in our thinking from a thing of glory to an affair of deepest disgrace.

Men can do many things to lessen the possibility of war, but only one thing to end it forever. Some sort of a Council of the Nations where we may discuss frankly our difficulties and look earnestly for their solution is absolutely necessary if we are to remedy our present situation. To beat our swords into ploughshares and our spears into pruning hooks and yet leave our hearts under the reign of the devils of national hatreds, jealousy and suspicion, is utter folly. To bring the lives of the nations as individuals under the will of Jesus Christ is the only sure remedy. To that task the Church must address herself anew with understanding and earnestness.

"Lest We Forget"

"Lest We Forget" was the subject of the Armistice Day sermon delivered by the Rev. H. W. Hargett, pastor of the St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church.

SECRETARY OF STATE BODY

Louis Smith Elected by Intercollegiate Press Association

Louis Smith of this city, Wabash college sophomore and son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Smith, was elected secretary of the Indiana Intercollegiate Press association at its closing sessions Saturday at Butler college, Indianapolis. The next meeting will be held at Wabash college, Crawfordsville.

Mr. Smith got his first newspaper experience in starting the Rushlite, Rushville high school paper, and on the Daily Republican. He and William Frazee, another Rushville high school graduate, are managing editors of the Bachelor, Wabash college semi-weekly paper, this year.

The principal address before this year's convention was made by Fred S. Ferguson, vice-president and general news manager of the United Press.

LET THESE COLUMNS BE YOUR GUIDE

The Point of Contact

THERE'S a simple catch in the familiar phrase that tells how the world beats a path to the door of the man who makes a better mouse-trap.

The maker of anything, if he is to win the plaudits of the world, must not only manufacture a superior product, but must also let folks know of his achievements. He must point out just why his mouse-trap, his automobile or his shaving cream is better than his neighbor's. He must advertise.

Advertising is the point of contact between the man who makes something and the man who wants something. Through an advertisement, a manufacturer can tell you in a few short minutes all you want to know about the article or the service he has to offer.

This newspaper is constantly full of ideas that other men and women have thought out for your personal benefit. Fail to read the advertisements and you remain in ignorance of countless products that would make life easier, happier and more interesting for you and your entire family.

Advertising gives you news of the latest and best things made—with word as to what they will do, what they cost and where to get them. Think of all you miss when you overlook the advertisements.

Read them regularly—every day

Relieve That Eye Strain

Many women have the foolish notion that glasses are a disfigurement.

On the contrary, they are an asset to your appearance if you wear a pair to fit every occasion—the ballroom, the movies, outdoor sports and reading or sewing.

Better to guard your eyes against increasing weakness—for neglect will bring wrinkles and eventually serious disorders.

During the last term of court, Sheriff Hunt reports that it required the services of 100 men for jury service and the names of these men have been sent to the auditor for the payroll. This is an exceptionally large number of jurors, especially when there was no outstanding case that required many jurors.

In the criminal court there were 20 cases taken from the docket, and 46 are still pending. During the term, one defendant was sent to the penal farm, and one given a suspended sentence at the farm. Three defendants were fined, one was given a jail sentence, and one a penitentiary sentence. One case was appealed to the higher court.

In the civil suits there were 81 cases taken from the dockets during the term, and there are still 199 left on the books, which are at issue to be tried.

employed a graduate Red Cross nurse, whose services were devoted to welfare work among the pupils in the public schools of the county. This service was discontinued because of a lack of funds.

In the Japanese earthquake disaster, the local chapter made a substantial contribution to the relief fund.

That it may be able to maintain an organization prepared to function at all times, with promptness and efficiency, the Rush county unit of the Red Cross is asking for membership renewals. One dollar will secure a membership. A stockholder's interest in this great humanitarian organization for one year.

In this period of extravagance and reckless, wasteful spending, it is a privilege and should be the pleasure of every patriotic American to give at least one dollar, to this unselfish cause.

There are no overhead expenses in the Rush county chapter of the Red Cross. Every dollar contributed goes into the fund for the conservation and protection of life, the alleviating of suffering and the relief of distressed humanity.

A BENEDICTION:—Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you.—2 Corinthians 13: 11.

The German Army Quota

With civil war seemingly imminent in Germany, the French government has thrown a bombshell into the bewildered country by demanding a ceding of German troops. Paris reminds Berlin that by the treaty of Versailles German military forces were limited to 100,000 men. Premier Poincare is convinced that there are more Germans than that under arms now, and he intends to disarm the surplus.

There is method in that inquiry. Not only has France a natural objection to a large standing army in French safety, but France realizes how its problems of reparation and occupation will be complicated if Germany is able to put a powerful force into the field. The immediate purpose may be to prevent the mobilizing of enough troops, by the German republic, to suppress the Rhine-land separation movement or any similar movement approved by France.

The episode reminds students of history rather strikingly of a similar situation a little over a century ago. Napoleon, after conquering Prussia, limited that country's standing army to 100,000 men, just as the Allies did after the recent World War. Germany cleverly got around the limit-

BE RID OF THAT ACHE

If you're a sufferer with lame back, backache, dizziness, nervousness and kidney disorders, why don't you try the remedy that your own neighbors recommend. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. Joseph Doll, 521 W. Third St., Rushville, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills off and on when I was troubled with kidney complaint and have found them a reliable remedy. At times my back was weak and lame and I had to remain in bed. It ached intensely through the small part and my kidneys were irregular in action. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they have never failed to relieve me."

Mrs. Doll gave the above statement August 26, 1915, and on November 1, 1920, she added: "I still have the same high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills. I use them occasionally as a kidney tonic always with satisfactory results."

You Can Save Repair Bills

By Keeping Your Car in Condition

The trouble with most people is that they allow small defects to run too long before hunting the repair man. Thus little defects become big ones, and repair bills are proportionately large.

If you will bring your car to us as soon as it begins to "act up" we will materially reduce your cost of maintenance.

The Leading Housekeeper

Newspaper men were greatly edified a year or so ago by a decision of the federal immigration bureau to the effect that their calling was a "learned profession." Now it appears that the housekeeper also is by way of being a scholar. A statement from the executive secretary of the Homemakers' National Guild says:

"When homemaking is recognized as a learned profession, the schools will be proud to accept it as a fundamental principle in the development of all education. Homemakers make the schools, and the teachings of the schools can never rise higher than their source.

"All homemakers intuitively conduct their homes on the fundamental principle of life and growth. If that were not true, there would be nothing left of human life in a few years."

Not a doubt of it in the world! And it isn't only in fundamentals that the good housekeeper or housekeeper is sound. She is just as everlastingly right and erudite in detail.

She has this superiority, too, over other learned professions. Most of the others are scholarly in only one thing. The good homemaker has to know at least a dozen different brands of learning very thoroughly, and not only to know them with her head but to be able to apply them with her hands.

Sooner or later we shall have colleges conferring degrees of M. H. and D. H., meaning "Mistress of Homemaking" and "Doctor of Housekeeping."

ARLINGTON WINS WITH A DROP KICK

MOSCOW CHALKS UP A DOUBLE VICTORY

Varsity Defeats Waldron at Blue Ridge, 39 to 17, And The Girls Team Wins, 20 to 4

OPPONENTS ARE OUTCLASSED

The Moscow high school basketball teams made a double victory out of Waldron Saturday night, in games played on the Blue Ridge floor. The girls from Moscow won the curtain raiser 20 to 4 and the varsity won by a count of 39 to 17.

The big game of the evening was fast, but the Moscow team had Waldron outclassed from the start. One of the feature baskets made during the game was a goal shot by H. Hungerford, Moscow's back guard, who sent the ball in the hoop from his end of the floor. Casey, a Moscow Freshman, is showing up well and will make a valuable player for his team.

The varsity team lined up as follows:

Moscow 39 Waldron 17
B. Hungerford F. Marshall
Casey F. Headlee
Gosnell C. Briley
Tillison G. Yeager
H. Hungerford G. Yeager
Substitutions, Moscow, Pope, Mull Mitchell, Whisman. Field goals, Gosnell 6, B. Hungerford 2, Casey 2, Tillison 4, H. Hungerford, Whisman, Marshall, 6, Briley 2, Foul goals, Moscow 7 out of 14; Waldron 1 out of 4.

Moscow Girls 20 Waldron Girls 4
Tomes F. Nech
J. Parker F. Mahin
Richey C. McCain
Whisman G. Thompson
Peck G. Dawson
Goals, Tomes, Richey 7, Mahin; fouls, Tomes, Parker, Richey 2, Nech 2.

KELTS WIN ONE

The Rushville elts, independent basketball team, won another game Saturday night when they downed the Knightstown independents on the floor in that city, by the score of 16 to 15. The game was hard fought from beginning to end, and the outcome was in doubt until the final whistle.

CONNERSVILLE BATTLE

U. S. May Not Win Olympics

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Nov. 12—America, it is generally known, is in real danger of finishing second in the Olympic games at Paris next summer.

Those who have followed the development of athletics in Sweden and Norway since the 1920 games in Antwerp know that these two nations will make a most powerful bid for the championship.

It is fortunate that the American officials are aware of the existing conditions and are willing to admit that Uncle Sam has a job on his hands.

With all its overwhelming natural advantages it is hard to reason how any small nations could take the Olympic championship away from the United States. But it is possible.

Any number of bad breaks can happen to reduce the strength of the American team. Injuries to Matt McGrath, Joie Ray and Sol Butler out down the points in Antwerp, and if three great stars are hurt before or during the Paris games it will be much more serious.

Because of a lack of co-operation and a faulty system in organizing and conducting the trial events in 1920, the American team was not as strong as it could have been. Strong this year, and it probably will strong this year, and it probably will be, as the various controlling bodies are working in complete harmony and they have assembled a good organization to select and train the team.

Petty politics and little jealousies destroyed harmonious relations between the various organizations in 1920. The A. A. U. regarded as rather presumptuous and assuming the efforts of the inter-collegiate association to have a voice in selection of the team and a part in its management.

Rather admirably this year, the A. A. U. is stepping aside and instead of insisting upon being the one big boss has agreed to be one of the bosses under a general committee.

Say what you will, officers of the army and navy are good executives. They are trained to handle big problems, such as are presented by the mobilization selection, transportation and maintenance of an army for 400 athletes, which is no small sized job.

Commander Mayo, who had charge of the Navy athletes on the 1920 team, stepped out of a rear rank when things were going badly in Antwerp and he suggested, if he did not actually carry out, the changes which stopped the threatened revolt of the American team.

In Major General Henry T. Allen the American committee this year has a most competent adviser and executive and the committee can consider itself fortunate to have at its command such valuable assistance.

If any baseball man can develop and bring out the potential possibilities of the Chicago White Sox in the 1924 pennant race, Frank Chance ought to be that man.

Chance knows baseball and he is of the aggressive type that can get the best out of material.

The "Peerless Leader" did nothing sensational with the Boston Red Sox, but no one could do better with the material offered him in Boston in one year.

Kid Gleason was no bust with the Sox. Injuries and bad breaks caused the club to be a disappointment in the 1923 campaign and it must be considered that the club has no right to be considered as a real contender.

expects to have one of the best working machines in the county.

Milroy at the present time is handicapped on account of ineligible players. The school has adopted a rule that all players must be up in all subjects in order to play, and this rule is keeping many good players out. Only two seasoned men were in the game at Connersville.

The ruling of the state association makes it necessary for the players to have passing grades in three subjects, but Lyle Power, principal of the Milroy school, inaugurated a new rule this year which makes it necessary, and Lyle Power, principal of subject.

The game Saturday night was the first of the season for Connersville. Milroy plays at Waldron on Friday night of this week.

DROP KICK WINS FOR ARLINGTON A. C. TEAM

Vern Keith's Toe Spells Defeat For Tuxedo Players of Indianapolis at Arlington Sunday

HARD FOUGHT ALL THE WAY

Vern Keith's drop kick for Arlington in the last half of 2nd quarter defeated the Tuxedo football team of Indianapolis yesterday at Arlington, 3 to 0. The game was a hard fought one all the way through, but Arlington seemed to have a little advantage all the time, making more first downs than the Tuxedo team.

The Tuxedo team could not gain through Arlington line to any advantage, while Wicker at full and Toney Wilcoxon at half for Arlington tore off several good gains. Wilcoxon made the longest run of the game around right end and seemed sure for a touchdown, but was forced out of bounds after going 38 yards.

The weather was ideal for football and a fair sized crowd was out and all were well pleased. Next Sunday the Garfield A. C. team will be on hands and another close game is expected. The last game until Thanksgiving day will be played Sunday.

teacher's pension law and I don't believe we should pension the teacher any more than we should pay the farmers a pension.

"This is a case where the organized minority won over the unorganized majority. There is no reason why this association should not have a lobby in the legislature. It is up to the taxpayers to put business men on the township advisory boards and county councils, which levy our taxes and appropriate the money.

"I thought the farmers would watch taxes in the last legislature, but they got the co-operative marketing bill on the brain and traded votes for the sand dunes park and other measures. I was cursed for carrying bills around in my pocket, but my pocket was not big enough to carry around all of the bills that I should."

"The power to tax is the power to destroy," asserted Mr. Morris, in an address in which he assailed state commissions and other governmental agencies for many of the extravagances that have brought on high taxes. He recalled that a federal court in one southern district had appointed a receiver for some taxing units and said that "we are nearing the same condition."

Mr. Morris asserted that it was cowardly to tax our children for what we use and said that no road bond should run over five years.

"We must begin with the legislature," he asserted. "It is run by lobbies—the teachers lobby, the state board of agriculture and others. I have no doubt but that a fourth of them should be in the penitentiary. The state board of agriculture is a private corporation, yet the legislature appropriates money for its use.

I doubt if it's legal. Ray Morgan had the right idea in the last legislature, but he had cussed little help.

"We are raising a million dollars for the state department of conservation to spend on parks and put the state in the hotel business. We must start at the foundation head—the legislature, and first repeal about 100 damn fool laws. We have got commission on commission that have no more real duties to perform than I have in the kingdom of heaven. For once let us have a taxpayers lobby in the legislature."

"Ames," said Mr. Morgan. "I am not criticizing you, Mr. Morris," hastily said Mr. Morris. "I wish you had had several pockets so that you could have carried four or five bushels of those bills. What we need is real hard-boiled taxpayers in the legislature to wield an elm club. We will elect a general assembly soon and good strong men should be selected. There should be a friendly rivalry between the parties to reduce taxes and not to be run by lobbies."

"I doubt if the three-mile road law ever had any excuse for existence, and if it ever did, that excuse disappeared ten years ago. We have more roads now than we can keep up. No road should be built unless a majority of the taxpayers petition for it. The three-mile road law should be repealed."

He referred to the sand dunes bill in the last legislature, venturing the opinion the state paid five times as much as the dunes were assessed for. Mr. Morgan interrupted him to say twenty-five times.

"No such a thing is consistent with honesty and integrity," continued Mr. Morris. "A bunch of real estate speculators organized and dipped deep into the state treasurer."

He attacked the state-wide primary law and other agencies he said had contributed to high taxes, and asserted that parties should hold conventions so they could get together and discuss questions such as that of taxation.

"We thought we had government by law," he continued, "but we have departed from John Marshall's idea of government. We have created bureaus and commissions until what is law for me is not law for you."

Mr. Morris made an appeal for an increase in the salary of prosecutors, asserting that he is not only "the main spoke in the law, but has civic duties. He should be as learned as the judge."

"We give him $500 a year and he has to cope with the ablest lawyers in his district," the speaker continued. "That is a farce and always will be. If we make the office so that men of great ability will seek it, law would be enforced and organizations for the purpose of taking your money away from you would have their charters taken away from them."

Mr. Morris said people did not know one-fourth as much about their government as their fathers did. He asserted he did not want to cripple the schools, but that he would like to and the state board of health deprived of the authority to condemn school buildings. He referred to the Jackson township situation.

"All we need is just plain 'hoss' sense," he concluded. "There are not a half dozen men among us who have spent as much time studying government as attending movies."

J. S. Young, representative of the state association, reviewed what it had done in Marion county and said its founders thought taxes might be lowered or at least held at the present level. He pointed out taxes had more than doubled in the last ten years and that they might double again in the next decade if something were not done to stop them. He said the state association was planning an educational and legislative campaign and that it will remain non-partisan, not permitting office holder or candidate to hold office. Mr. Young pointed out that it was not promotional and that no organizers will be sent into counties to get members.

NEW SALEM DEFEATED

New Salem high school went down in defeat Friday night at Westport, when the high school team of that place won out by a score of 38 to 17. Westport grabbed an early lead and was never passed by the Rush county team. The score at the end of the first half was 20 to 10.

The Men and Women's Bible class of the First Baptist church will be entertained Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hollenbee, north of the city. All members are urged to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bennings of Orange township entertained with a prettily appointed dinner party Sunday, their guests being Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bennings of Indianapolis, Mrs. Branson of Newcastle, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Krammes and family of Orange township.

The Parent-Teacher's association of Richland township, which was scheduled to hold their monthly session November 15, has postponed the meeting indefinitely on account of the measles epidemic that is sweeping southern Rush county.

The Psi Iota Xi sorority will be entertained Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Frances Bowen in North Morgan street. Miss Katherine Blount will be the assisting hostess.

The Progressive Boosters' class of the First Baptist church will be entertained tonight at seven o'clock with a rabbit supper in the basement of the church. All the members of the class are cordially invited to attend and enjoy the supper.

The American Literary Society will be entertained Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Scott Hosier and Mrs. Lillian Jones in East Eighth street, instead of with Mrs. Harry Clifford as originally planned. An interesting program has been prepared and all the members are cordially invited to attend this meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wagoner of West Sixth street delightfully entertained Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Williamson daughter Laverne of Columbus, Ind., over the week-end. Sunday the party motored to the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Hersell Newhouse, north of the city and enjoyed a pitch-in dinner at the noon hour.

ternoon at the home of Mrs. Harry Clifford as originally planned. An interesting program has been prepared and all the members are cordially invited to attend this meeting.

On Friday evening of this week the Martha Poe Chapter, No. 143, O. E. S. will have degree work at the Masonic Temple, and all the members are urged to attend. The members are also requested to bring their canned fruit for the Masonic Home, to this meeting.

The Sons of Veterans Auxiliary will hold their regular meeting in the G. A. R. room in the court house Tuesday afternoon. Every member is expected to be present as this will be the last meeting before inspection, which will take place Tuesday November 20, and there will be no more meetings for practice.

The Westminster Bible class of the First Presbyterian church entertained Friday evening at the home of Mrs. M. V. Spivey in this city, in honor of Mrs. L. C. Snodgrass, who is leaving this week for Phoenix, Ariz., for future residence. The evening was enjoyed socially and dainty refreshments were served. Twenty-five guests were present.

The Choir of the St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church will be entertained Wednesday evening by the members of the Glenwood M. E. church choir, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Fielding, near Glenwood. All the members are requested to meet at the Sealan House in South Main street, promptly at seven o'clock Wednesday evening, so the party may go to the Fielding home in a body.

The children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Sharp pleasantly surprised them Sunday at their home west of the city, honoring their golden wedding anniversary. Seven children and their families were present, together with several grand-children, the entire number of guests attending, numbering forty-seven. At the noon hour a pitch-in dinner was served and the day was enjoyed informally. Mr. and Mrs. Sharp received several beautiful gifts.

Dr. and Mrs. D. D. VanOsdol and son Max of this city were among the out-of-town guests who attended the wedding of Miss Frances Maria Bundy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bundy of Newcastle, and Dr. Kenneth Rutledge Coffield, son of Dr. and Mrs. F. J. Coffield, also of Newcastle, which was performed Saturday afternoon at two o'clock at the home of the bride's parents. The wedding was a lovely affair and was attended by several guests.

The bride wore her mother's wedding gown of Spanish lace over pink satin, in princess fashion, which added a particular charm to the wedding. She carried her mother's handkerchief of Duchess lace and linen. Silver slippers and a wreath of orange blossoms, completed her costume. She was attended by Miss Martha Brown and Miss Gertrude Coffield as bridesmaids, and Miss Margaret Brown as maid of honor.

Immediately following the wedding Dr. and Mrs. Coffield left on a wedding trip to Chicago, after which they will be at home with the bride's parents until January 1, 1924, when they will reside in Indianapolis, where Dr. Coffield is a dentist. The bride is very popular in Newcastle

Snuggle Down in an Outing Nightie And Enjoy a Nights' Repose

Sleeping porches and wide-open windows are cilly propositions these night, but cutting nightwear keeps one warm and comfortable. Now is the time to select these garments while you are sure of obtaining the size and style you wish.

Brighton Outing Nightwear is not the cheapest but it is the best!

That is only a half-truth, for they are both cheapest and best when one considers the long wear and comfort wrapped up in each garment. They are cut full and long and tailored like a fine coat. Little niceties of trimming and oddities of fashion add to the attractiveness. We provide an assortment so varied and so extensive that choosing is a pleasure.

A Scenic Naïveté

The old swimming hole of James Whitcomb Riley's poem is located near Greenfield, Indiana. Heart throbs and wholesome laughter abound in this wonderful picture made from one of the best efforts of the great Hoosier poet. As you all well know, James Whitcomb Riley's boyhood days were lived in Greenfield, and "The Old Swimming Hole" is a glowing tribute to his memory. He must have loved this section of Indiana to have written such a classic. The picture carries out the spirit of the wonderful poem to the last detail. Don't regret that you did not see it.

FARMERS IN BATTLE WITH GAME WARDENS

Six Johnson County People Under Arrest Following Fight With Two State Officials

ARREST OF TWO RESISTED

Franklin, Ind., Nov. 12—Six persons were under arrest here today charged with assault and battery with intent to kill, following a battle in which Oliver Neal and Luther Watson, state game wardens, were severely cut and beaten, when they attempted to make arrests for game law violations in the southern part of Johnson county late Saturday.

Neal and Watson went to the home of William Haskell, a farmer with warrants for his arrest. Haskell and his wife and four men attacked the wardens with scythes and pitchforks, and drove them off after inflicting dangerous wounds, according to the charges.

A posse of deputies arrested Haskell and his wife and the other men yesterday and brought them to the county jail here. Names of the four men were withheld by authorities pending investigation of the possible connection with other lawless acts.

ARMISTICE DAY

SERMO NTHEMES

copal church Sunday morning at the assembly room in the court house. The text was taken from Deuteronomy, the eighth chapter and eleventh verse, "Lest Thou Forget." He spoke in part as follows:

Five years ago today at eleven o'clock in the morning the great world war closed. The dining car in which the armistice was signed is now in one of the courts of the Hotel des Invalides, in Paris, not far from the tomb of Napoleon. At that time the war seemed so near and so terrible that it could never be forgotten. There was so much of unmitigated sorrow, of ruthless tragedy, of dire sorrows, that human nature might be excused for wishing to forget. But forgetfulness may be a perilous thing.

Let us not forget what the war did. It stripped off the shams and laid life bare. With its lurid glare it lighted up the subterfuge, the selfishness and the sins of nations. It revealed the tempers of heroes, the souls of saints and the courage of the bravest of the brave. Mr. H. G. Wells, says that "the war ended nothing, began nothing, settled nothing." It certainly ended many dreams of imperialism and promoted the onward march of democracy.

It proved that war cannot end war. If we prepare for war, we shall have war. If we prepare the minds, the wills and hearts of the people for the war-game, they will be found playing the game. Prepare them for peace, we shall have peace. That old humbug that the way to prepare for peace is to prepare for war has been shot to pieces. The farmer who looks for pumpkins on his pear tree is wise compared with the man who looks for the fruits of peace from the tree of war.

The war proved the powerlessness of mere power. A war for moral ends can never be wholly won by the sword. Only moral forces can achieve moral victories. "Not by (physical) might, nor by (temporal) power, but by My Spirit saith the Lord." Those who gave their lives and those who fought by their sides for a great cause, won in the outer realm. They have left all to us to so follow the Prince of Peace, that we shall win in the inner realm and there conquer the injustice, the hatreds, the greed, the suspicions and prejudices, which created war.

The war proved the shallowness of the world. If one nation suffers, all suffer. All lands and all nations are linked in one. The foods men eat, the fabrics they wear, link them with nearly every part of the earth. If foods and fabrics are easily interchangeable, ideals and ideas are more so. The greatest fact on the planet today is the swift and universal world exchange of ideas. Leaven the world with Christian ideas and ideals and in time the kingdom of the world will become the kingdoms of righteousness and of peace.

College Field Man Speaks

The Rev. Peter McEwen, field representative of Hanover College, spoke in the First Presbyterian church Sunday morning, in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. Gibson Wilson who preached to the students of The Western College For Women at Oxford Ohio.

The Rev. Mr. McEwen took as his subject "Life and Education."

Rev. Wilson is continuing his series of sermons on The Bible Book by Book, and last night spoke on the Book of Malachi.

Life is the biggest and greatest thing in the world. There are many forms of life: The vegetable, the animal, the human being possess life but the greatest life is spoken of in the words of Christ when He said I am come that they might have life and have it more abundantly. He meant the Eternal Christian Life. Have you ever considered the length of this abundant life I best can explain it to my own mind when I say eternal life has an end that never comes.

There are at least three institutions which are producing the abundant Christian life: the home where the life is started by the influence of a Godly father or mother; the Sunday school and church further develops the Christ-like life, but out and beyond the home and the church comes the institution of higher education. It is very important that this institution be Christian in its teaching.

We have fifty-seven so-called Christian colleges more or less under the control of our Presbyterian church. One of these is Hanover College located here in our own state down on the beautiful north bank of the Ohio river six miles west of Madison. On December 31, 1926 Hanover College will have completed a hundred years of faithful service in the cause of Christian education. For that reason it ought to make an appeal to us for our loyal support to this famous historical college.

Our Duty to Praise God

The text for the morning service at the United Presbyterian church was Psalm, 67th chapter, third verse "Let the peoples praise thee, O God; let all the peoples praise thee." The sermon was by the pastor, the Rev. E. G. McKibben and was in part:

"It is a duty resting upon every human being to praise God. Praise is the celebration of the glorious attributes and perfections of the city. It is a distinct part of worship, public and private. It is a duty because of four considerations.

"It is commanded, over and over again, in the Old Testament, and in the new, God requires this service. In the seven verses of this Psalm there are eleven references that show God's will in this matter. Three times the 'Earth', three times, the 'Nation', five times the 'people' are exhorted to praise God.

"It is a fitting thing to do. All good, temporal and spiritual, comes from Him. His grace is freely given and His love provided a Saviour."

"It is a profitable thing to do. It enriches the heart of the worshiper. It makes known God's greatness, his power, his wisdom and his mercy."

"It is, withal, a pleasant thing to do. The music, the poetry, the lofty sentiment lift the soul above things temporal and material and makes us to have fellowship with things eternal. In song we dream dreams and see visions. We taste and see that God is good."

The speaker mentioned four things for which we praise God. We praise Him for what He is; for what He does; for what He does not do; and for what He says.

Emphasis was laid also on the means by which we praise God, with voice, head and son.

In conclusion, the speaker said: "All nature joins in praise to God. The heavenly bodies show forth His praise. The earth and all its creatures, animate and inanimate, celebrate their creator's praise. And man, God's crowning work, redeemed by His Son, should do likewise."

In the evening a gospel sermon was preached from the ninth chapter of Luke, the twenty-sixth verse. Dr. L. M. Green gave an instructive and much appreciated address to the Intermediates in commemoration of "The Armistice".

ANOTHER CHILD MADE HAPPY

CHARLES VICTOR DARST
Son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Darst
Marion, Ind.

Health Restored to Child Suffering With Bowel Trouble

Read what others say: Our baby, Charles Victor Darst, two years old, was suffering from bowel trouble and was in a general run down condition. Our efforts to find relief for the little one proved futile and we became very discouraged.

We were advised to try Chiropractic spinal adjustments for him, and called on J. M. Starr, a Chiropractor in this city. After only a few adjustments, we noticed an improvement, and later on a complete restoration of his health took place.

My wife was constantly troubled with headaches and she also took Chiropractic adjustments, getting immediate relief and gaining in weight.

We cannot praise Chiropractic too highly and we recommend it because we appreciate what it has done for us. Signed: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Darst, 1224 Spencer Ave., Marion, Ind.

Nature never changes. Twenty-seven years of actual bed-side experience has proved beyond the possibility of doubt that chiropractic does remove the cause of disease and restores health. Chiropractic principles have not changed and will not change. It is in accordance with nature.

Vigorous Old Age

WHY separate youth and old age with a deep and ever-widening abyss?

The bloom of youth and the hardy, ruddy glow of Old Age—sixteen and sixty—should be separated only by the span of years and not by varying differences of physical wholeness.

Vigorous old age is within the grasp of all. S. S. S. brings that hale and hearty feeling back with a rush. Rich red blood is the greatest enemy of weakness, health undermining Old Age. S. S. S. builds Red Blood Cells, rich, red blood coursing through your veins sweeps away impurities that retard the proper functioning of your system. Old Age—once a dreaded agony becomes a vigorous, enjoyable, care free time of life.

S. S. S. is made of carefully selected herbs and barks—scientifically prepared and proportioned. Welcome Old Age when it comes. Be ready to withstand the attacks of diseases that follow in its wake. Meet Old Age with a hearty handshake. A handshake that speaks of well being—of a vigorous, clear thinking, red blooded constitution. S. S. S. is your best friend when Old Age is seen rounding the corner. Get a bottle and drive care and worry away. All leading drug stores carry it. The large size is the more economical.

MOVIES

Charles Ray at Castle

A large element responsible for the success of James Whitcomb Riley's "The Old Swimmin' Hole," the First National attraction on the screen of the Castle today and Tuesday, and produced by Charles Ray Productions, Incorporated, and starring Charles Ray, was that the boys and girls acting in the production easily assimilated the spirit of youth.

As a matter of fact, aside from one or two characters, the cast was made up of young people—young enough, most of them, to easily remember all the pranks, pleasures and vicissitudes of their school days, and indeed a number of them were still attending school. Charles Ray, Lincoln Stedman, Laura La Plante and Marjorie Prevost all remarked that their maturity seemed to depart with the discarding of long skirts and trousers, and there was a general tone of regret among every one who acted in the picture when the cameras clicked off the final scene. As Miss La Plante left the studio she remarked: "This is the first time I have felt really serious since I started acting in 'The Old Swimmin' Hole', and now I would like to have a good cry." Miss Prevost added: "Do you know I actually felt afraid of Mr. Lon Poff when he was so severe as the old schoolmaster?"

It is this spirit which existed at the studio during the making of this picture that did so much in making the acting so natural and spontaneous.

Two Days at Princess

One of the largest exterior sets ever constructed inside a studio was used at Paramount's West Coast plant of Hollywood, California, for scenes in William de Mille's Paramount production of "The Marriage Maker," which will be shown at the Princess theatre today and Tuesday.

An exact reproduction of a famous Italian garden in Rome, Italy, this set occupied an acre of floor space. Fifteen thousand square feet of grass were transplanted from fields near Hollywood, while hundreds of plants, flower bushes, vines and shrubs were rooted and actually growing as the cameras registered the scene.

A fish pond, with seventy-five gold-fish in the center of the garden, while two costly statues and a fountain preserves the likeness of the original in Rome. Concrete bannisters with several tall columns and a broad garden walk, constructed by a force of fifteen workmen and utilizing more than thirty tons of concrete, are but partial examples of the labor that went into the construction of the big set.

The theme of "The Marriage Maker" is most unusual. From the woods and fields comes a creature who figures largely in the love affairs of four persons and to set an example for thousands of others. Charles de Roche, as the Faun, also known as Prince Sylvani, is an outstanding figure in "The Marriage Maker." He brings a solution to all difficulties encountered by Agnes Ayres and Jack Holt, featured in the principal roles. He is a firm believer that money is the root of all evil, and so forces an introduction for himself among civilized people for the purpose of helping humankind to overcome this evil. How the Faun brings happiness to all concerned makes an interesting picture.

"The Rapids," Mystic

"The Rapids," which is at the Mystic today and Tuesday, is a virile story of big men and brave deeds that will fascinate by its direct appeal to the audience. It pictures a lone character, a big man, fighting single-handed against the machinations of big business, waging a tireless warfare against youth in an endeavor to win a place in the bosom of romance. It is a story of unique in its treatment and powerful in its appeal.

ADOPTS REPORT OF COMMITTEE

Taxpayers Meeting Approves Method Suggested For The Rush County Association

ANOTHER SESSION ON NOV. 19

Ray Morgan of Knightstown, Speaker of House of Representatives, Backs Movement

Final steps toward the organization of the Rush County Taxpayers association were taken at a meeting here Saturday afternoon when a committee of five men to draft a constitution and by-laws and another to select thirteen members at large of the assembly of the association, were appointed and will report back to a general meeting Monday, November 19.

The report of an organization committee selected at a previous session provided that the association be governed by an assembly composed of one member for each precinct in the county, one member for each municipal corporation in the county and thirteen members at large, and that each precinct and municipal corporation organize and select its member.

The report of the committee was unanimously adopted and Claud Canham, who acted as temporary chairman, appointed the following committees:

To draft constitution and by-laws: Douglas Morris, local attorney and former judge of the state supreme court; Fred Bell, president of the Rush County Farm Bureau; Robert E. Mansfield of this city, formerly of the U. S. consular service; W. E. Inlow, a local real estate agent, and John H. Kiplinger, Rushville attorney and formerly a member of a sub-committee of the allied reparations committee at Weisbaden, Germany. To select thirteen members at large of the assembly: Samuel L. Trabue, Rushville attorney; W. S. Oneal, Rushville business man, and Thomas K. Mall of Manilla, Banker and farmer.

The report also provided for the appointment of a membership committee to select members, but none will be appointed until the organization is perfected. The committee making the report was composed of Mr. Kiplinger, Phil Wilk, county auditor; Robert A. Innis, president of the American National bank; Mr. Morris and V. W. Norris, local fertilizer dealer and farmer.

In case any precinct or municipal corporation fails to organize and appoint its member of the assembly, the committee appointed by the chairman may make such appointment, and the assembly, when completing the organization, according to the report which was adopted.

Addresses were made by Douglas Morris, Ray Morgan of Knightstown, former speaker of the house of representatives and member of the executive committee Indiana Taxpayers association, and J. S. Young, a representative of the state association.

"What's everybody's business is nobody's business," said Mr. Morgan "and that's why we have high taxes. School teachers are a small part of the population and yet they have a lobby in the legislature and get desirable legislation. They got the

C. F. Shultz to Preach Half Time at Christian Church

The Rev. Charles F. Shultz of Newcastle has accepted a call to preach half time during 1924, for the Christian church at Carthage, Ind. He is well known in Rush county, having held very successful revival meetings at Homer, Moscow, Milroy, Ellettsburg, and he has preached regularly as pastor at Arlington, Fairview and Homer.

The Rev. Mr. Shultz has just closed his work as state evangelist, in which work he has had about 800 additions to the churches during the past two years. He has just closed a successful meeting at Liberty, Indiana with 61 additions, and has been invited to return for a meeting next fall. He will in all probability hold a revival at Carthage beginning about the first of December.

Burglars Again Try it at Allen's Store Without Success

For the fourth time in the past twelve months, burglars broke into L. L. Allen's grocery store, 327-329 North Main street, Sunday night or early today. They followed the same plan as before, prying open a window on the north side of the building, close to the cash register. They did not succeed in raising the window far enough to get in, or were frightened away.

This is the conclusion since nothing was missing from the store except twelve cents that was in the cash register. This could be reached through the window. None of the stock was disturbed.

Repeated attempts have been made to rob the store, but Mr. Allen has never suffered any loss of any consequence.

CIRCUIT COURT IN WEEK'S VACATION

Preparations Begun For Opening of November Term Which Will Begin Next Monday

COURT RETURNS DECISIONS

Denies John Gibson New Trial Against Pennsylvania and Refuses Stella Warth a Divorce

The Rush circuit court is in vacation this week, and the work of closing the books of the September term that closed Saturday is under way, and preparations begun for the new term that will open next Monday.

On the closing day Judge Sparks overruled the motion for a new trial in the case of John Gibson against the Pennsylvania railroad, which was tried last June, and the jury awarded the verdict for the defendant. The plaintiff attempted to get a new trial. The case was for damages sustained in an accident at the West First street railroad crossing.

Judge Sparks also rendered his decision in the divorce suit of Stella Gordon Warth against Cecil Warth, heard October 20, and the court refused the plaintiff a divorce on her demands.

Charles W. Eitel is plaintiff in a suit filed against Charles Elwell, the complaint being for $1000 damages, following an automobile accident September 16. The plaintiff alleges that he was operating his machine on a highway and that the defendant

SUPERINTENDENTS TO MEET HERE TUESDAY

Southern Indiana Club Will Visit Rushville Schools And Eat Lunch With Rotary Club

TWO ROUND TABLE SESSIONS

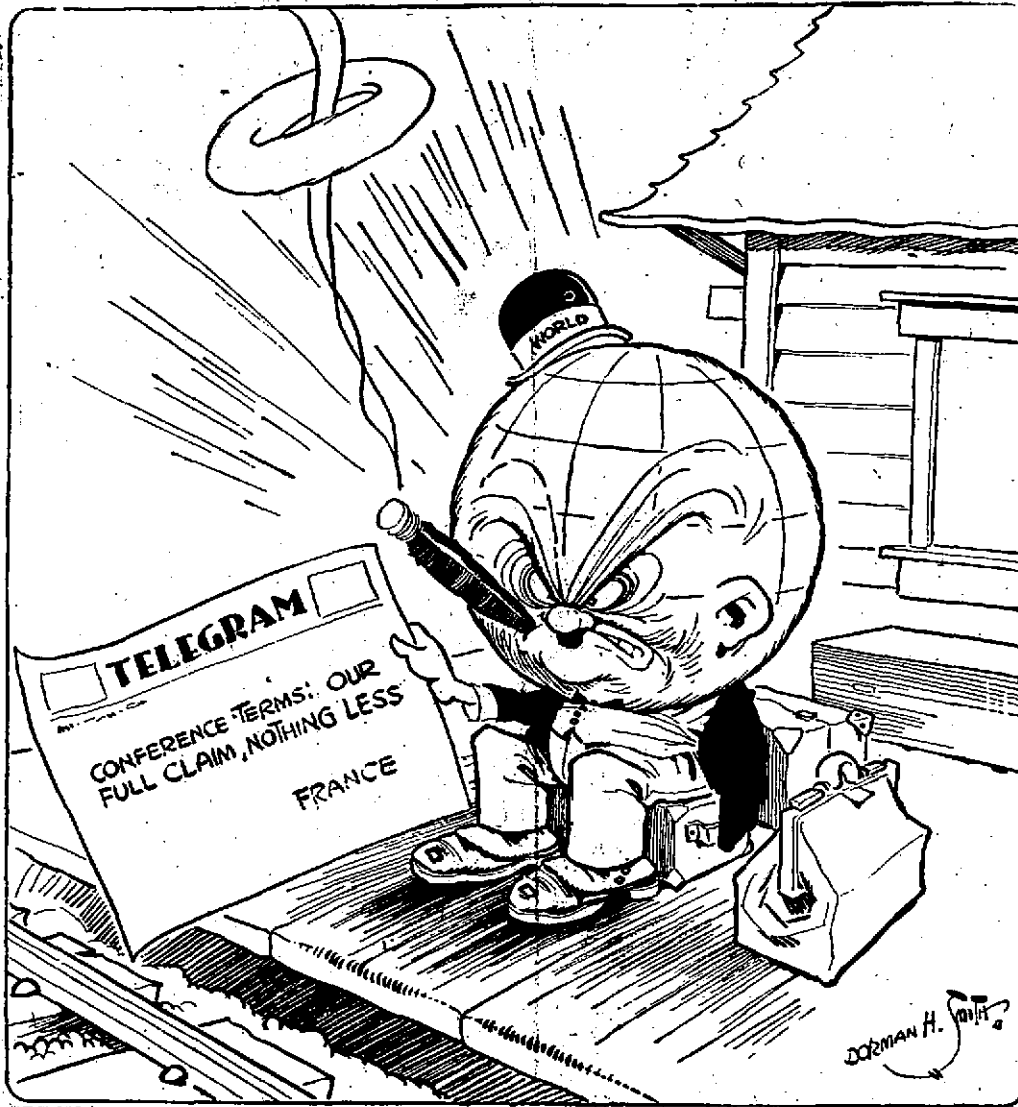

Between fifteen and twenty city school superintendents of southern Indiana are expected here Tuesday for the annual meeting of the Southern Indiana Superintendents' club. The superintendents will visit the schools during the morning, as the guests of Sam J. H. Schell, and at noon they will eat lunch with the Rotary club, three of the visitors being scheduled to make short talks. They will visit the schools again in the afternoon and at 3:45 will hold a business session.

Following the transaction of business, Dr. C. M. Curry of Terre Haute will discuss "The New License Law," and this will be followed by a round table discussion of the teachers' license law and kindred subjects. The superintendents will be guests at a dinner at the Seelman House at 6 o'clock and the closing session will be another round table at 7 o'clock.

There are four honorary members of the club, but only one of them, W. A. Millis, president of Hanover college, will be present. The professor of education in Hanover will accompany him to the meeting.

The club has 29 active members and Supt. Schell is the third oldest in point of membership, having been active in the organization since 1904.

KNECHT FUNERAL AT 9 O'CLOCK TUESDAY

Services For Former Rushville Young Man Killed in Accident to be Held at St. Mary's Church

CRUSHED UNDER A TRACTOR

Funeral services for Larry Knecht, age twenty-four years, who was fatally injured in an accident at Lackawana, New York, a suburb of Buffalo, last Friday afternoon, will be held at St. Mary's Catholic church Tuesday morning at nine o'clock, in charge of the Rev. Francis Schaub, and burial will be in Calvary cemetery. The funeral cortege will leave the home of the deceased's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Knecht, in Washington township, at 8:15.

The body arrived at the Knecht home about eleven o'clock Sunday morning and hundreds of friends called during the afternoon to view the remains.

Mr. Knecht was diving a tractor and dragging another one behind, when it overturned and he was crushed underneath its weight. He lived about forty-five minutes.

Besides his parents and widow, the deceased is survived by five brothers, John, Will, Jack and Francis Knecht of this city and Fred Knecht of Mays, John and Jack Knecht went to Buffalo after the remains.

BANKERS ARE WITNESSES

Five Examined by Grand Jury in McCray Inquiry Today

(By United Press) Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 12—Five witnesses were examined by the Marion county grand jury when it resumed its investigation into the financial affairs of Gov. McCray, after numerous delays due to the illness of Charles W. Moores, special prosecutor.

The witnesses heard today included Thomas W. Barr, state bank examiner. Other witnesses heard represented banks interested in McCray notes.

The grand jury is expected to continue in session all week and push the investigation as rapidly as possible. A large number of witnesses have been called, but their identity is kept secret.

AMERICA HAS NOT FORGOTTEN

(By United Press) America has not forgotten.

On the fifth anniversary of the ending of the World war, hundreds of thousands of boys in khaki, nurses, Salvation Army workers, and others who participated in overthrowing Germany's military might, joined in parades in all parts of the United States. Millions of citizens cheered them.

At 11 a. m. in every community in the country, all activity ceased for two minutes and people stood at attention in honor of those who never came home from "Somewhere in France."

Dispatches to the United Press today told of Armistice Day celebrations ranging from imposing parades with crashing bands and artillery salutes, in the big cities, to simple little church services with sermons on "peace" in the hamlets and villages.

In Washington, President Coolidge placed a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. Gold Star Mothers and other mourners filed past the sepulchre all day. A mile or so away 5,000 people jammed the street in front of Woodrow Wilson's home and heard him—choking with emotion which at times almost overcame him—call the American army of 1918, the "most ideal army that was ever thrown together." He defied those who oppose America entering the League of Nations and said "that we shall prevail it as sure as that God reigns."

In London, King George placed a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Westminster Abbey while thousands filed past the cenotaph in Whitehall. In Paris General Pershing stood at attention while his aide put a wreath on the Unknown's tomb beneath the Arc de Triumphant, while a

No special observance of Armistice Day was held in Rushville, but the day did not pass without notice, as factory whistles were blown and bells rung at eleven o'clock this morning, in commemoration of the signing of the armistice on the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month, 1918.

The day was given added significance Sunday when ministers generally discussed the armistice in sermons.

FORGET-ME-NOT SALE SHORT OF LAST YEAR

Handicapped by the Lack of Workers, War Mothers Raise Only $118.15 Saturday

DRAFT SENT TO INDIANAPOLIS

Handicapped by the lack of workers, Rush county War Mothers raised only $118.15 with the sale of forget-me-nots here Saturday. This is less than half of the sum raised in the observance of Forget-Me-Not Day here last year, when Rush county was third in the state in point of receipts.

The sale of forget-me-nots is conducted nationally every year for the benefit of disabled war veterans. All of the proceeds go to the Disabled American Veterans of The World War, an organization devoted to the alleviation of the sufferings of disabled soldiers.

Six War Mothers and two high school girls conducted the sale. No specified sum was asked for the little blue flowers, each person receiving being asked to drop money in a box.

The War Mothers expected to have the help of the A. A. G. girls of the high school, but plans miscarried and they were not notified in time. Mrs. Belle Allen acted as chairman and remained at headquarters in the postoffice throughout the day.

R. A. Innis, Glen Foster and Guy Mulbarger of the American National bank counted the receipts and prepared the draft which was sent to Indianapolis Saturday night.

SUIT FOR POSSESSION

Richard Disinger is plaintiff in a complaint filed in Justice Stech's court against Frank Rogers, the suit being for possession of a house in West First street, and with the demand for damages being for $100. The case has been docketed for trial on November 15, ten o'clock.

Schools of County Preparing to Discuss Education

The county schools will observe Education Week next week, according to plans being made now by B. D. Farthing, county school superintendent, who will announce the program in a few days.

Benjamin J. Barris, state superintendent, will make the opening address in the county on next Monday night in a community education meeting scheduled for Manilla, and there will no doubt be a large crowd out to hear the address and program.

Mr. Farthing will send speakers from the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs into the schools of the county next week, and the observance of the national education week program will be followed.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL UNDER WAY

Supplies in Hands of Township Chairmen And Workers Are Ready To Receive Memberships

OPENED ON ARMISTICE DAY

Renewals And New Members Sought So County Chapter Will Be Able To Function At All Times

Robert E. Mansfield, acting chairman of the Rush County chapter of the American Red Cross, today issued the following appeal for the renewal of memberships in the local unit of the organization.

Yesterday, Armistice day, marked the opening of the annual roll call for membership in the American Red Cross. Supplies are now in the hands of the chairman of the township auxiliaries of the Rush county chapter, and the workers in the organization are prepared to receive and receipt for renewals of memberships.

The activities of the American Red Cross, the scope and efficiency of its service during the world war and since the signing of the Armistice, including relief to millions of war-wrecked countries, assistance in times of disaster in America and other places, especially in the Japanese in most of the churches, and should secure for it the willing and sympathetic support of every patriotic American citizen.

Armistice day, the fifth anniversary of which was observed yesterday by the holding of patriotic sermons, earthquake catastrophe, by many orders and societies, was a reminder of the ending of hostilities in that great drama, the world war, in which the American Red Cross played such a conspicuous and heroic part.

Last year and continued until the close of the school term in May of this year, the Rush county chapter

ARMISTICE DAY SERMON THEMES

VIEW OF THE REV. R. W. SAGE

Last War Proved Powerlessness of Mere War to End War, The Rev. H. W. Hargett Asserts

Armistice Day was the theme of sermons in some of Rushville's churches, the subject being especially appropriate in view of the fact that the fifth anniversary of the ending of the war fell on Sunday.

Beating swords into ploughshares is of no avail so long as national hatreds, jealousy and suspicion are permitted to continue, the Rev. R. W. Sage said at the First Baptist church.

The Rev. H. W. Hargett said at St. Paul's church that war for moral ends can never be won wholly by the sword and asserted that the last war proved the powerlessness of mere war to end war.

A field representative of Hanover college spoke at the First Presbyterian church and at the First United Presbyterian church, the pastor, the Rev. E. G. McKibbin spoke of the duty resting on every human being to praise God.

Swords Into Ploughshares

Armistice Day was observed at the morning service of the First Baptist church and a special sermon was preached by the pastor, Rev. R. W. Sage, in keeping with the thought of the day. Speaking from the text, "And they shall beat their swords into ploughshares and their spears into pruning hooks: Nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war anymore," and the substance of his message was as follows:

Today we celebrate the close of the great war. At the close of that conflict we hoped for universal peace and that war should never again darken the history of the human brotherhood. We do not know that the day of universal peace is at hand. In fact there are many indications that it is not; but one thing is sure—war has forever lost its glory. It has been changed in our thinking from a thing of glory to an affair of deepest disgrace.

Men can do many things to lessen the possibility of war, but only one thing to end it forever. Some sort of a Council of the Nations where we may discuss frankly our difficulties and look earnestly for their solution is absolutely necessary if we are to remedy our present situation. To beat our swords into ploughshares and our spears into pruning hooks and yet leave our hearts under the reign of the devils of national hatreds, jealousy and suspicion, is utter folly. To bring the lives of the nations as individuals under the will of Jesus Christ is the only sure remedy. To that task the Church must address herself anew with understanding and earnestness."

"Last We Forget"

"Last We Forget" was the subject of the Armistice Day sermon delivered by the Rev. H. W. Hargett, pastor of the St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church.

Relieve That Eye Strain

Many women have the foolish notion that glasses are a disfigurement.

On the contrary, they are an asset to your appearance if you wear a pair to fit every occasion—the ballroom, the movies, outdoor sports and reading or sewing.

Better to guard your eyes against increasing weakness—for neglect will bring wrinkles and eventually serious discomforts.

was operating his machine at an excessive rate of speed on a cross-road, and that a collision followed. The plaintiff maintains that as a result of the accident, his machine was rendered useless, and he was injured, all to the extent of his demand of $1,000.

During the last term of court, Sheriff Hunt reports that it required the services of 100 men for jury service and the names of these men have been sent to the auditor for the payroll. This is an exceptionally large number of jurors, especially when there was no outstanding case that required many jurors.

In the criminal court there were 20 cases taken from the docket, and 46 are still pending. During the term, one defendant was sent to the penal farm, and one given a suspended sentence at the farm. Three defendants were fined, one was given a jail sentence, and one a penitentiary sentence. One case was appealed to the higher court.

In the civil suits there were 81 cases taken from the dockets during the term, and there are still 199 left on the books, which are at issue to be tried.

Electricity certainly puts Old Sol to shame in the Westinghouse Electric Co. plant at Baldwin, L. I. Experiments conducted there prove that plants subjected to the heat of 500-watt electric lamps, grow with double the speed of those subjected only to sunlight. UPHOLDS ALIEN LAND LAW

Washington, Nov. 12—The Supreme court today declared the California Alien land law constitutional. The constitutionality of the law, which was designed to prevent aliens from owning or leasing land in California, was tested in a suit brought by W. I. Porterfield and Y. Mijuno, American and Japanese of Los Angeles county, to restrain the authorities of the state and county from enforcing the act.

Gas From Food Presses on Heart

If food does not digest it turns into poisons which form gas. This often presses on heart and other organs causing a nervous, restless feeling. Simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adlerika removes foul, decaying food matter you never thought was in your system which caused gas and pressure on heart. Adlerika expels poisons and gas from BOTH upper and lower bowel. EXCELLENT to guard against appendicitis. Hargrove & Brown, Druggists—Advertisement.

The Point of Contact

THERE'S a simple catch in the familiar phrase that tells how the world beats a path to the door of the man who makes a better mouse-trap.

The maker of anything, if he is to win the plaudits of the world, must not only manufacture a superior product, but must also let folks know of his achievements. He must point out just why his mouse-trap, his automobile or his shaving cream is better than his neighbor's. He must advertise.

Advertising is the point of contact between the man who makes something and the man who wants something. Through an advertisement, a manufacturer can tell you in a few short minutes all you want to know about the article or the service he has to offer.

This newspaper is constantly full of ideas that other men and women have thought out for your personal benefit. Fail to read the advertisements and you remain in ignorance of countless products that would make life easier, happier and more interesting for you and your entire family.

Advertising gives you news of the latest and best things made—with word as to what they will do, what they cost and where to get them. Think of all you miss when you overlook the advertisements.

Read them regularly—every day

A BENEDICTION:—Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace: and the God of love and peace shall be with you.—2 Corinthians 13: 11.

The German Army Quota

With civil war seemingly imminent in Germany, the French government has thrown a bombshell into the bewildered country by demanding a ceding of German troops. Paris reminds Berlin that by the treaty of Versailles German military forces were limited to 100,000 men. Premier Poincaré is convinced that there are more Germans than that under arms now, and he intends to disarm the surplus.

There is method in that inquiry. Not only has France a natural objection to a large standing army in French safety, but France realizes how its problems of reparation and occupation will be complicated if Germany is able to put a powerful force into the field. The immediate purpose may be to prevent the mobilizing of enough troops, by the German republic, to suppress the Rhineland separation movement or any similar movement approved by France.

The end-of-the-world students of history rather strikingly of a similar situation a little over a century ago. Napoleon, after conquering Prussia, limited that country's standing army to 100,000 men, just as the Allies did after the recent World War. Germany cleverly got around the limit.

BE RID OF THAT ACHE

If you're a sufferer with lame back, backache, dizziness, nervousness and kidney disorders, why don't you try the remedy that your own neighbors recommend. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. Joseph Doll, 521 W. Third St., Rushville, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills off and on when I was troubled with kidney complaint and have found them a reliable remedy. At times my back was weak and lame and I had to remain in bed. It ached intensely through the small part and my kidneys were irregular in action. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they have never failed to relieve me."

Mrs. Doll gave the above statement August 26, 1915, and on November 1, 1920, she added: "I still have the same high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills. I use them occasionally as a kidney tonic always with satisfactory results."

The Leading Housekeeper

Newspaper men were greatly edified a year or so ago by a decision of the federal immigration bureau to the effect that their calling was a "learned profession." Now it appears that the housekeeper also is by way of being a scholar. A statement from the executive secretary of the Homemakers' National Guild says:

"When homemaking is recognized as a learned profession, the schools will be proud to accept it as a fundamental principle in the development of all education. Homemakers make the schools, and the teachings of the schools can never rise higher than their source."

"All homemakers intuitively conduct their homes on the fundamental principle of life and growth. If that were not true, there would be nothing left of human life in a few years."

Not a doubt of it in the world! And it isn't only in fundamentals that the good housekeeper or homemaker is sound. She is just as expertly right and erudite in detail.

She has this superiority, too, over other learned professions. Most of the others are scholarly in only one thing. The good homemaker has to know at least a dozen different brands of learning very thoroughly, and not only to know them with her head but to be able to apply them with her hands.

Sooner or later we shall have colleges conferring degrees of M. H. and D. H., meaning "Mistress of Homemaking" and "Doctor of Housekeeping."

MOSCOW CHALKS UP A DOUBLE VICTORY

Varsity Defeats Waldron at Blue Ridge, 39 to 17, And The Girls Team Wins, 20 to 4.

OPPONENTS ARE OUTCLASSED

The Moscow high school basketball team made a double victory out of Waldron Saturday night, in games played on the Blue Ridge floor. The girls from Moscow won the curtain raiser 20 to 4 and the varsity won by a count of 39 to 17.

The big game of the evening was fast, but the Moscow team had Waldron outclassed from the start. One of the feature baskets made during the game was a goal shot by H. Hungerford, Moscow's back guard, who sent the ball in the hoop from his end of the floor. Casey, a Moscow Freshman, is showing up well and will make a valuable player for his team.

The varsity team lined up as follows:

Moscow 39	Waldron 17
B. Hungerford	Marshall
Casey	Headlee
Gosnell	Briley
Tillison	Yeager
H. Hungerford	Yeager
Substitutions, Moscow, Pope, Mull
Mitchell, Whisman, Field goals, Gosnell 6, B. Hungerford 2, Casey 2, Tillison 4, H. Hungerford, Whisman, Marshall, G. Briley 2, Foul goals, Moscow 7 out of 14; Waldron 1 out of 4.

Peck	Dawson
Goals, Tomes, Richey 7, Mabin: fouts, Tomes, Parker, Richey 2, Neeb 2.

KELTS WIN ONE

The Rushville elts, inKedependent basketball team, won another game Saturday night when they downed the Knightstown Independents on the floor in that city, by the score of 16 to 15. The game was hard fought from beginning to end, and the outcome was in doubt until the final whistle.

U. S. May Not Win Olympics

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)
New York, Nov. 12—America, it is generally known, is in real danger of finishing second in the Olympic games at Paris next summer.

Those who have followed the development of athletics in Sweden and Norway since the 1920 games in Antwerp know that these two nations will make a most powerful bid for the championship.

It is fortunate that the American officials are aware of the existing conditions and are willing to admit that Uncle Sam has a job on his hands.

With all its overwhelming natural advantages it is hard to reason how any small nations could take the Olympic championship away from the United States. But it is possible.

Any number of bad breaks can happen to reduce the strength of the American team. Injuries to Matt McGrath, Joie Ray and Sol Butler cut down the points in Antwerp, and if three great stars are hurt before or during the Paris games it will be much more serious.

Because of a lack of co-operation and a faulty system in organizing and conducting the trial events in 1920, the American team was not as strong as it could have been. Strong this year, and it probably will strong this year, and it probably will be, as the various controlling bodies are working in complete harmony and they have assembled a good organization to select and train the team.

Petty politics and little jealousies destroyed harmonious relations between the various organizations in 1920. The A. A. U. regarded as rather presumptuous and assuming the efforts of the inter-collegiate association to have a voice in selection of the team and a part in its management.

Rather admirably this year, the A. A. U. is stepping aside and instead of insisting upon being the one big boss has agreed to be one of the bosses under a general committee.

Say what you will, officers of the army and navy are good executives. They are trained to handle big problems, such as are presented by the mobilization selection, transportation and maintenance of an army for 400 athletes, which is no small sized job.

Commander Mayo, who had charge of the Navy athletes on the 1920 team, stepped out of a rear rank when things were going badly in Antwerp and he suggested, if he did not actually carry out, the changes which stopped the threatened revolt of the American team.

In Major General Henry T. Allen the American committee this year has a most competent adviser and executive and the committee can consider itself fortunate to have at its command such valuable assistance.

If any baseball man can develop and bring out the potential possibilities of the Chicago White Sox in the 1924 pennant race, Frank Chance ought to be that man.

Chance knows baseball and he is of the aggressive type that can get the best out of material.

The "Peerless Leader" did nothing sensational with the Boston Red Sox, but no one could do better with the material offered him in Boston in one year.

Kid Gleason was no bust with the Sox. Injuries and bad breaks caused the club to be a disappointment in the 1923 campaign and it must be considered that the club has no right to be considered as a real contender.

HOLDS CONNERSVILLE DURING FIRST HALF

Milroy Basketball Team Weakens in Last Half, However, And is Defeated, 31 to 20

MANY PLAYERS INELIGIBLE

After holding Connerville to a ten to ten tie in the first half Saturday night, the Milroy high school basketball team failed to keep the pace in the last period, and was defeated on the Connerville floor by the score of 31 to 20.

The showing made by Milroy is exceedingly encouraging and as the season progresses, Coach Royalty expects to have one of the best working machines in the county.

Milroy at the present time is handicapped on account of ineligible players. The school has adopted a rule that all players must be up in all subjects in order to play, and this rule is keeping many good players out. Only two seasoned men were in the game at Connerville.

The ruling of the state association makes it necessary for the players to have passing grades in three subjects, but Lyle Power, principal of the Milroy school, inaugurated a new rule this year which makes it necessary, abt Lyle Power, principal of subject.

The game Saturday night was the first of the season for Connerville. Milroy plays at Waldron on Friday night of this week.

DROP KICK WINS FOR ARLINGTON A. C. TEAM

Vern Keith's Toe Spells Defeat For Tuxedo Players of Indianapolis at Arlington Sunday

HARD FOUGHT ALL THE WAY

Vern Keith's drop kick for Arlington in the last half of 2nd quarter defeated the Tuxedo football team of Indianapolis yesterday at Arlington, 3 to 0. The game was a hard fought one all the way through, but Arlington seemed to have a little advantage all the time, making more first downs than the Tuxedo team.

The Tuxedo team could not gain through Arlington line to any advantage, while Wicker at full and Toney Wilcoxen at half for Arlington tore off several good gains. Wilcoxen made the longest run of the game around right end and seemed sure for a touchdown, but was forced out of bounds after going 38 yards.

The weather was ideal for football and a fair sized crowd was out and all were well pleased. Next Sunday the Garfield A. C. team will be on hands and another close game is expected. The last game until Thanksgiving day will be played Sunday.

teacher's pension law and I don't believe we should pension the teacher any more than we should pay the farmers a pension.

"This is a case where the organized minority won over the unorganized majority. There is no reason why this association should not have a lobby in the legislature. It is up to the taxpayers to put business men on the township advisory boards and county councils, which levy our taxes and appropriate the money.

"I thought the farmers would watch taxes in the last legislature, but they got the co-operative marketing bill on the brain and traded votes for the sand dunes park and other measures. I was cussed for carrying bills around in my pocket, but my pocket was not big enough to carry around all of the bills that I should."

"The power to tax is the power to destroy," asserted Mr. Morris, in an address in which he assailed state commissions and other governmental agencies for many of the extravagances that have brought on high taxes. He recalled that a federal court in one southern district had appointed a receiver for some taxing units and said that "we are nearing the same condition."

Mr. Morris asserted that it was cowardly to tax our children for what we use and said that no road bond should run over five years.

"We must begin with the legislature," he asserted. "It is run by lobbyists—the teachers lobby, the state board of agriculture and others. I have no doubt but that a fourth of them should be in the penitentiary. The state board of agriculture is a private corporation, yet the legislature appropriates money for its use."

I doubt if it's legal. Ray Morgan had the right idea in the last legislature, but he had cussed little help.

"We are raising a million dollars for the state department of conservation to spend on parks and put the state in the hotel business. We must start at the foundation head—the legislature, and first repeal about 100 damn fool laws. We have got commission on commission that have no more real duties to perform than I have in the kingdom of heaven. For once let us have a taxpayers lobby in the legislature."

"Amen," said Mr. Morgan.
"I am not criticizing you, Mr. Morgan," hastily said Mr. Morris. "I wish you had had several pockets so that you could have carried four or five bushels of those bills. What we need is real hard-boiled taxpayers in the legislature to wield an elm club. We will elect a general assembly soon and good strong men should be selected. There should be a friendly rivalry between the parties to reduce taxes and not to be run by lobbyists."

"I doubt if the three-mile road law ever had any excuse for existence, and if it ever did, that excuse disappeared years ago. We have more roads now than we can keep up. No road should be built unless a majority of the taxpayers petition for it. The three-mile road law should be repealed."

He referred to the sand dunes bill in the last legislature, venturing the opinion the state paid five times as much as the dunes were assessed for. Mr. Morgan interrupted him to say twenty-five times.

"No such a thing is consistent with honesty and integrity," continued Mr. Morris. "A bunch of real estate speculators organized and dipped deep into the state treasurer."

He attacked the state-wide primary law and other agencies he said had contributed to high taxes, and asserted that parties should hold conventions so they could get together and discuss questions such as that of taxation.

"We thought we had government by law," he continued, "but we have departed from John Marshall's idea of government. We have created bureaus and commissions until what is law for me is not law for you."

Mr. Morris made an appeal for an increase in the salary of prosecutors, asserting that he is not only "the main spoke in the law, but has civic duties. He should be as learned as the judge."

"We give him $500 a year and he has to cope with the ablest lawyers in his district," the speaker continued. "That is a farce and always will be. If we make the office so that men of great ability will seek it, law would be enforced and organizations for the purpose of taking your money away from you would have them."

Mr. Morris said people did not know one-fourth as much about their government as their fathers did. He asserted he did not want to cripple the schools, but that he would like to and the state board of health deprived of the authority to condemn school buildings. He referred to the Jackson township situation.

"All we need is just plain 'hoss' sense," he concluded. "There are not a half dozen men among us who have spent as much time studying government as attending movies."

J. S. Young, representative of the state association, reviewed what "it had done in Marion county and said its founders thought taxes might be lowered or at least held at the present level. He pointed out taxes had more than doubled in the last ten years and that they might double again in the next decade if something were not done to stop them. He said the state association was planning an educational and legislative campaign and that it will remain non-partisan, not permitting office holder or candidate to hold office. Mr. Young pointed out that it was not promotional and that no organizers will be sent into counties to get members.

NEW SALEM DEFEATED

New Salem high school went down in defeat Friday night at Westport, when the high school team of that place won out by a score of 38 to 17. Westport grabbed an early lead and was never passed by the Rush county team. The score at the end of the first half was 20 to 10.

The Choir of the St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church will be entertained Wednesday evening by the members of the Glenwood M. E. church choir, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Fielding, near Glenwood. All the members are requested to meet at the Seunlan House in South Main street, promptly at seven o'clock Wednesday evening, so the party may go to the Fielding home in a body.

The children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Sharp pleasantly surprised them Sunday at their home west of the city, honoring their golden wedding anniversary. Seven children and their families were present, together with several grandchildren, the entire number of guests attending, numbering forty-seven. At the noon hour a pitch-in dinner was served and the day was enjoyed informally. Mr. and Mrs. Sharp received several beautiful gifts.

Dr. and Mrs. D. D. VanOsdol and son Max of this city were among the out-of-town guests who attended the wedding of Miss Frances Maria Bundy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bundy of Newcastle, and Dr. Kenneth Rutledge Coffield, son of Dr. and Mrs. F. J. Coffield, also of Newcastle, which was performed Saturday afternoon at two o'clock at the home of the bride's parents. The wedding was a lovely affair and was attended by several guests.

The bride wore her mother's wedding gown of Spanish lace over pink satin, in princess fashion, which added a particular charm to the wedding. She carried her mother's handkerchief of Duchess lace and linen. Silver slippers and a wreath of orange blossoms, completed her costume. She was attended by Miss Martha Brown and Miss Gertrude Coffield as bridesmaids, and Miss Margaret Brown as maid of honor.

Immediately following the wedding Dr. and Mrs. Coffield left on a wedding trip to Chicago, after which they will be at home with the bride's parents until January 1, 1924, when they will reside in Indianapolis, where Dr. Coffield is a dentist. The bride is very popular in Newcastle.

Heart throbs and wholesome laughter abound in this wonderful picture made from one of the best efforts of the great Hoosier poet. As you all well know, James Whitcomb Riley's boyhood days were lived in Greenfield, and "The Old Swimming Hole" is a glowing tribute to his memory. He must have loved this section of Indiana to have written such a classic. The picture carries out the spirit of the wonderful poem to the last detail. Don't regret that you did not see it.

FARMERS IN BATTLE WITH GAME WARDENS

Six Johnson County People Under Arrest Following Fight With Two State Officials

ARREST OF TWO RESISTED

Franklin, Ind., Nov. 12—Six persons were under arrest here today charged with assault and battery with intent to kill, following a battle in which Oliver Neal and Luther Watson, state game wardens, were severely cut and beaten, when they attempted to make arrests for game law violations in the southern part of Johnson county late Saturday.

Neal and Watson went to the home of William Haskell, a farmer with warrants for his arrest. Haskell and his wife and four men attacked the wardens with scythes and pitchforks, and drove them off after inflicting dangerous wounds, according to the charges.

A posse of deputies arrested Haskell and his wife and the other men yesterday and brought them to the county jail here. Names of the four men were withheld by authorities pending investigation of the possible connection with other lawless acts.

ARMISTICE DAY

SERMO NTHMES

capal church Sunday morning at the assembly room in the court house. The text was taken from Deuteronomy, the eighth chapter and eleventh verse, "Let Thou Forget." He spoke in part as follows:

Five years ago today at eleven o'clock in the morning the great world war closed. The dining car in which the armistice was signed is now in one of the courts of the Hotel des Invalides, in Paris, not far from the tomb of Napoleon. At that time the war seemed so near and so terrible that it could never be forgotten. There was so much of unmitigated sorrow, of ruthless tragedy, of dire sorrows, that human nature might be excused for wishing to forget. But forgetfulness may be a perilous thing.

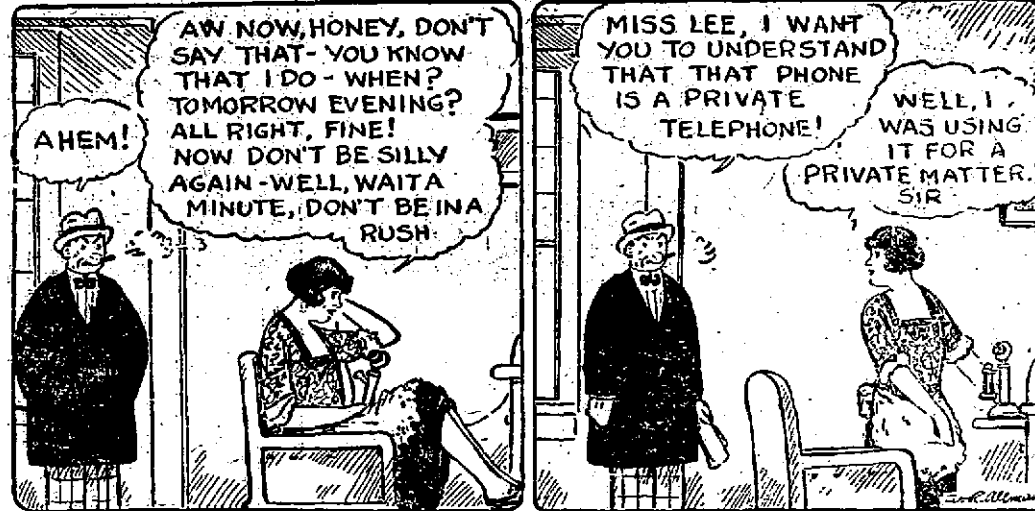

Let us not forget what the war did. It stripped off the shams and laid life bare. With its lurid glare it lighted up the subterfuge, the selfishness and the sins of nations. It revealed the tempers of heroes, the souls of saints and the courage of the bravest of the brave. Mr. H. G. Wells, says that "the war ended nothing, began nothing, settled nothing." It certainly ended many dreams of imperialism and promoted the onward march of democracy.

It proved that war cannot end war. If we prepare for war, we shall have war. If we prepare the minds, the wills and hearts of the people for the war-game, they will be found playing the game. Prepare them for peace, we shall have peace. That old innuming that the way to prepare for peace is to prepare for war has been shot to pieces. The farmer who looks for pumpkins on his pear tree is wise compared with the man who looks for the fruits of peace from the tree of war.

The war proved the powerlessness of mere power. A war for moral ends can never be wholly won by the sword. Only moral forces can achieve moral victories. "Not by (physical) might, nor by (temporal) power, but by My Spirit saith the Lord." Those who gave their lives and those who fought by their sides for a great cause, won in the outer realm. They have left all to us so follow the Prince of Peace, that we shall win in the inner realm and there conquer the injustice, the hatreds, the greed, the suspicions and prejudices, which created war.

The war proved the shallowness of the world. If one nation suffers, all suffer. All kinds and all nations are linked in one. The foods men eat, the fabrics they wear, link them with nearly every part of the earth. If foods and fabrics are easily interchangeable, ideals and ideas are more so. The greatest fact on the planet today is the swift and universal world exchange of ideas. Leaven the world with Christian ideas and ideals and in time the kingdom of the world will become the kingdom of righteousness and of peace.

College Field Man Speaks

The Rev. Peter McEwen, field representative of Hanover College, spoke in the First Presbyterian church Sunday morning, in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. Gibson Wilson who preached to the students of The Western College For Women at Oxford Ohio.

The Rev. Mr. McEwen took as his subject "Life and Education."

Rev. Wilson is continuing his series of sermons on The Bible Book by Book, and last night spoke on the Book of Malachi.

Life is the biggest and greatest thing in the world. There are many forms of life: The vegetable, the animal, the human being possess life but the greatest life is spoken of in the words of Christ when He said I am come that they might have life and have it more abundantly. He meant the Eternal Christian Life. Have you ever considered the length of this abundant life? I best can explain it to my own mind when I say eternal life has an end that never comes.

There are at least three institutions which are producing the abundant Christian life: the home where the life is started by the influence of a Godly father or mother; the Sunday school and church further develops the Christ-like life, but out and beyond the home and the church comes the institution of higher education. It is very important that this institution be Christian in its teaching.

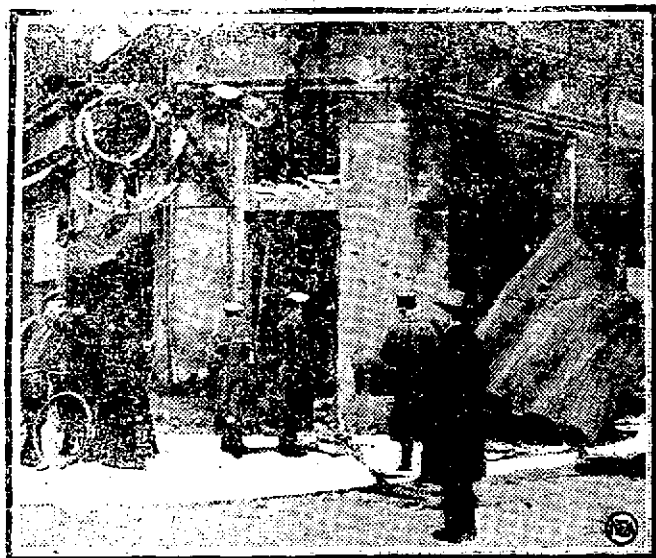

We have fifty-seven so-called Christian colleges more or less under the control of our Presbyterian church. One of these is Hanover located here in our own state down on the beautiful north bank of the Ohio river six miles west of Madison. On December 31, 1926 Hanover College will have completed a hundred years of faithful service in the cause of Christian education. For that reason it ought to make an appeal to us for our loyal support to this famous historical college.

Our Duty to Praise God

The text for the morning service at the United Presbyterian church was Psalm, 67th chapter, third verse "Let the peoples praise thee, O God; let all the peoples praise thee." The sermon was by the pastor, the Rev. E. G. McKibben and was in part:

"It is a duty resting upon every human being to praise God. Praise is the celebration of the glorious attributes and perfections of the city. It is a distinct part of worship, public and private. It is a duty because of four considerations.

"It is commanded, over and over again, in the Old Testament, and in the new, God requires this service. In the seven verses of this Psalm there are eleven references that show God's will in this matter. Three times the 'earth', three times the 'nation', five times the 'people' are exhorted to praise God.

"It is a fitting thing to do. All good, temporal and spiritual, comes from Him. His grace is freely given and His love provided a Saviour."

"It is a profitable thing to do. It enriches the heart of the worshiper. It makes known God's greatness, his power, his wisdom and his mercy.

"It is, withal, a pleasant thing to do. The music, the poetry, the lofty sentiment lift the soul above things temporal and material and makes us to have fellowship with things eternal. In song we dream dreams and see visions. We taste and see that God is good."

The speaker mentioned four things for which we praise God. We praise Him for what He is; for what He does; for what He does not do; and for what He says.

Emphasis was laid also on the means by which we praise God, with voice, head and son.

In conclusion, the speaker said: "All nature joins in praise to God. The heavenly bodies show forth His praise. The earth and all its creatures, animate and inanimate, celebrate their creator's praise. And man, God's crowning work, redeemed by His Son, should do likewise."

In the evening a gospel sermon was preached from the ninth chapter of Luke, the twenty-sixth verse. Dr. L. M. Green gave an instructive and much appreciated address to the Intermediates in commemoration of "The Armistice".

ANOTHER CHILD MADE HAPPY

CHARLES VICTOR DARST
Son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Darst
Marion, Ind.

Health Restored to Child
Suffering With Bowel
Trouble

Read what others say: Our baby, Charles Victor Darst, two years old, was suffering from bowel trouble and was in a general run down condition. Our efforts to find relief for the little one proved futile and we became very discouraged.

We were advised to try Chiropractic spinal adjustments for him, and called on J. M. Starr, a Chiropractor in this city. After only a few adjustments, we noticed an improvement, and later on a complete restoration of his health took place.

My wife was constantly troubled with headaches and she also took Chiropractic adjustments, getting immediate relief and gaining in weight.

We cannot praise Chiropractic too highly and we recommend it because we appreciate what it has done for us. Signed: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Darst, 1224 Spencer Ave., Marion, Ind.

Nature never changes. Twenty-seven years of actual bed-side experience has proved beyond the possibility of doubt that chiropractic does remove the cause of disease and restores health. Chiropractic principles have not changed and will not change. It is in accordance with nature.

Vigorous Old Age

WHY separate youth and old age with a deep and ever-widening abyss?

The bloom of youth and the hardy, ruddy glow of Old Age—sixteen and sixty—should be separated only by the span of years and not by varying differences of physical wholesomeness.

Vigorous old age is within the grasp of all. S. S. S. brings that hale and hearty feeling back with a rush. Rich red blood is the greatest enemy of weakness, health undermining Old Age. S. S. S. builds Red Blood Cells. Rich, red blood coursing through your veins sweeps away impurities that retard the proper functioning of your system. Old Age—once a dreaded agony becomes a vigorous, enjoyable, care free time of life.

S. S. S. is made of carefully selected herbs and barks—scientifically prepared and proportioned. Welcome Old Age when it comes. Be ready to withstand the attacks of diseases that follow in its wake. Meet Old Age with a hearty handshake. A handshake that speaks of well being—of a vigorous, clear thinking, red blooded constitution. S. S. S. is your best friend when Old Age is seen rounding the corner. Get a bottle and drive care and worry away. All leading drug stores carry it. The large size is the more economical.

MOVIES

Charles Ray at Castle

A large element responsible for the success of James Whitcomb Riley's "The Old Swinmin' Hole," the first National attraction on the screen of the Castle today and Tuesday, and produced by Charles Ray Productions, Incorporated, and starring Charles Ray, was that the boys and girls acting in the production easily assimilated the spirit of youth.

As a matter of fact, aside from one or two characters, the cast was made up of young people—young enough, most of them, to easily remember all the pranks, pleasures and vicissitudes of their school days, and indeed a number of them were still attending school. Charles Ray, Lincoln Steadman, Laura La Plante and Marjorie Prevost all remarked that their maturity seemed to depart with the discarding of long skirts and trousers, and there was a general tone of regret among every one who acted in the picture when the cameras clicked off the final scene. As Miss La Plante left the studio she remarked: "This is the first time I have felt really serious since I started acting in 'The Old Swinmin' Hole', and now I would like to have a good cry." Miss Prevost added: "Do you know I actually felt afraid of Mr. Lon Poff when he was so severe as the old schoolmaster?"

It is this spirit which existed at the studio during the making of this picture that did so much in making the acting so natural and spontaneous.

Two Days at Princess

One of the largest exterior sets ever constructed inside a studio was used at Paramount's West Coast plant of Hollywood, California, for scenes in William de Mille's Paramount production of "The Marriage Maker," which will be shown at the Princess theatre today and Tuesday.

An exact reproduction of a famous Italian garden in Rome, Italy, this set occupied an acre of floor space. Fifteen thousand square feet of grass were transplanted from fields near Hollywood, while hundreds of plants, flower bushes, vines and shrubs were rooted and actually growing as the cameras registered the scene.

A fish pond, with seventy-five gold-fish in the center of the garden, while two costly statues and a fountain preserves the likeness of the original in Rome. Concrete bannisters with several tall columns and a broad garden walk, constructed by a force of fifteen workmen and utilizing more than thirty tons of concrete, are but partial examples of the labor that went into the construction of the big set.

The theme of "The Marriage Maker" is most unusual. From the woods and fields comes a creature who figures largely in the love affairs of four persons and to set an example for thousands of others. Charles de Roche, as the Faun, also known as Prince Sylvani, is an outstanding figure in "The Marriage Maker." He brings a solution to all difficulties encountered by Agnes Ayres and Jack Holt, featured in the principal roles. He is a firm believer that money is the root of all evil, and so forces an introduction for himself among civilized people for the purpose of helping humankind to overcome this evil. How the Faun brings happiness to all concerned makes an interesting picture.

"The Rapids," Mystic

"The Rapids," which is at the Mystic today and Tuesday, is a virile story of big men and brave deeds that will fascinate by its direct appeal to the audience. It pictures a lone character, a big man, fighting single-handed against the machinations of big business, waging a tireless warfare against youth in an endeavor to win a place in the bosom of romance. It is a story of unique in its treatment and powerful in its appeal.
